

The map displays the city of Brasília, Brazil, with a focus on the central and southern regions. The city is divided into several distinct areas, each with a unique color and layout. The Sudoeste/Octogonal region is shown in yellow, featuring a grid-like street pattern. The Seta Central region is green, characterized by its radial streets. The Setor Militar Urbano is purple, with a more complex, less regular street layout. The map also shows the Lago Sul area, which is a large body of water. The 100 bus stops are marked with blue dots, distributed across the city. The map includes labels for major roads, landmarks, and the Lago Sul area. The map is credited to TomTom, Microsoft Corporation, and OpenStreetMap.